BOUNTIFUL RAIN STORM

Breaks All Records for Southern California

WORTH MILLIONS

To the Farmers and Assures a Bumper Crop---Total Precipitation for Storm 7.14 Inches; for Season, 12.09

It rained and it rained, not forty days and forty nights, but about forty hours, a steady downpour that made old Mother Earth open her capacious maw and soak up the life-giving fluid and store it away for later use in watering those things man loves to eat.

Some inconvenience was experienced; there were some wet toes, as men and women waded about and some hosiery exposed as leaps across overflowed gutters were made; car service was put on the bum, but good humor prevailed and general rejoicing was in the air.

According to the weather bureau the precipitation for the storm was 7.14 inches, and the rain was general throughout Southern California. Many erstwhile peaceful, gentle, little streams have been turned into raging torrents, but small damage has been done.

The railroads and street car lines have been the heaviest losers, but most lines have been able to operate, even if schedules have had to be abandoned.

Mr. Ford A. Carpenter, weather forecaster of Los Angeles, says:

"The precipitation in Southern California during the last twenty-four hours broke all existing records for amount and duration in this region. Pasadena received the maximum amount, 8.54 inches. Southeast storm signals have been set at Avalon, Redondo, Venice and San Pedro. The outlook for the next thirty-six hours is continued rain."

The rain will add millions to California. It issures one of the biggest crops in the history of Southern California. Heavy snows in the mountains will give a fine reserve for summer.

CHRISTIAN COURTESY.

Christ Jesus gave the world its highest example of genuine courtesy and today every individual may always have before him a perfect ideal of Christian courtesy if he will but follow the simple gospel narratives of the life of the Master. Divine, compassionate thoughtfulness was the distinguishing characteristic in all his human relations. He is found patiently staying to give the Samaritan woman at the well a glimpse of the truth; feeding the multitude that they might not be sent away faint; considerately delivering from her accusers the woman taken in sin; washing his disciples' feet in token of their loving obligations toward one another; healing, at the time of his betrayal, the soldier too zealously smitten on his behalf; under great mental and physical stress offering consolation to the thief on the cross; measuring up to the highest test of inward and outward courtesy, the forgiving of his enemies, in the very hour of bitter persecution.

True courtesy need not belong exclusively to the little child nor need it be only for a king. It recognizes no distinction, position nor degree. The episode which occurred at the house of Simon the Pharisee is a lasting lesson in courtesy. Simon, doubtless condescending somewhat to entertain the humble Galilean prophet, had neglected to extend to Jesus one of the courtesies of the time, the washing of his feet, which the repentant Mary Magdalene performed in loving humility. Jesus neither held himself beneath his pompous host nor above the outcast woman. He rebuked the one, though it must have been gently, for his neglect, and accepted graciously the devotion of the other.

If courtesy rises from no higher source than a conventional desire to be pleasant or diplomatic, or to make a good impression, it is as clouds without rain; it refreshes neither him who gives nor him who receives. The inspiration of true courtesy is divine Love, God; its object is to quicken, uplift and bless by the power of Love reflected. No charm of personality, no dignity of position, no fluency of speech nor grace of action, can atone for lack of the reflection of Love. Nor can any ignorance of the niceties of society obstruct the sincere purpose or expression of a loving heart or stay its blessings. Mere surface courtesy for the sake of observing the conventions, may restrain men from brutality, but it is at best only a sugar coating, and the one who practises it is both deceiving and deceived. Real courtesy springs from the very heart of Love and goes forth with the selfless desire to bless. Its mission is healing and redemptive. —Selected.

TROPICO THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

Owing to the accident which happened to Mrs. H. W. Meyers at her home Saturday evening, the meeting of the Thursday Afternoon club was held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Gaarder on Glendale avenue instead of at the home of Mrs. Meyers. Mrs. Gaarder was assisted in entertaining the club by Mrs. Hal M. Davenport, Mrs. Thomas Gaither, Mrs. Frank Peters, Mrs. W. G. Wattles, Mrs. O. A. Conrad, Mrs. W. H. Halleck, Mrs. Frank Ballentyne, Mrs. Charles A. Barker and Mrs. J. F. Harris. Mrs. Mary A. Kenney of Los Angeles gave a most interesting talk on Legislation, and explained in detail a few of the many, many numerous bills that the present legislators are preparing to either pass or defeat when that august body of California legislators return to Sacramento after enjoying a few weeks' recreation from their arduous duties.

At a farmers' meeting in Van Nuys it was decided to make a very careful investigation before endorsing the Los Angeles annexation idea.

Burbank is to vote on the question of issuing $20,000 bonds for the purpose of acquiring and extending the light and water plants. The election is to be held March 26th.

ARE DEEPLY INTERESTED

Women consider the privelege of voting a sacred duty

ARE CONSIDERING

Through the courtesy and kindness of an earnest little woman I was permitted to attend the meeting of the Friday Morning Club of Los Angeles, last Friday. I am told that this is one of the largest, if not the largest, woman's clubs in the world, the present membership being about 1800.

Several members of the state legislature had been invited to discuss some of the bills now pending before the legislature, in which the women of the state are especially interested.

Assemblyman Frank E. Woodley was the first speaker, taking for his subject the proposed mother's pension bill.

Mr. Woodley made the statement that at the present time the state is paying $800,000 for the maintainence of orphans and half orphans, and that the passage of this bill would increase this sum to $3,000,000, and that the state finances, at this time, will not justify such an additional expense. He said he believed that a bill with the proposed object in view was needed, but that he was in favor of making a thorough investigation of the subject before taking legislative action, and that in his opinion a commission should be appointed to make such an investigation and then recommend a bill based upon the information gained.

Assemblyman Peairs explained the proposed Torrens act and the pension act for school teachers. He said the only people you will find opposing the Torrens act is some one interested, either directly or indirectly in the title companies, and while he admitted the title companies were good and served their purpose yet he believed the Torrens act would serve the same purpose at a much less cost. He recited several specific cases to show the difference between the present system and the Torrens.

In speaking of the School Teachers Pension act he paid a glowing tribute to the teachers and expressed himself as being strongly in favor of the bill, even though the bill should include the teacher's dependent relatives.

He said he was in favor of free text books, but thought that a deposit should be required such deposit to be refunded if books were returned in ordinary condition, but to be retained if books were unnecessarily damaged.

Mrs. Charles F. Edson discussed the proposed bill requiring a medical certificate from candidates for matrimony. This bill provides that before a marriage license may be issued a medical certificate must be obtained certifying that neither of the contracting parties have venereal or communicable diseases and that in each county one or more male and female physicians shall be appointed and paid by the county for such work, but any reputable physician may give certificates. Mrs. Edson was very earnest in her support of the bill and urged all women to give their aid and assistance.

Senator H. H. Lyons spoke on the bill to prohibit boys and girls under the age of 21 from selling papers or flowers on the streets at night, or to permit them to work more than eight hours a day or six days a week. The bill also prohibits any girl under 21 years of age from working in the ticket booths of moving picture shows, or with theatres, and provides that any boy or girl under 18 years of age before going in business for themselves or to work in a factory or workshop must have a doctor's certificate.

Senator Lyons was somewhat captious in referring to the newspapers but made a good talk presenting his views on the proposed measures in a convincing manner.

I cannot say that I was very favorably impressed with either of the gentlemen who talked nor do I agree with them on a num- FIVE Sentinel Feb 24 13 ems tt ber of the questions advocated by them. As a speaker Mrs. Edson was unquestionably the superior and while I think she is advocating a will-o'-the-wisp and devoting her energies to a measure that can result in no possible good yet her earnestness and masterfully handling of her subject is deserving of commendation. It is too bad that she could not devote the exceptional talents which she unquestionably possesses to more meritorious matters.

To me the most impressive fact connected with the meeting was the earnestness of those present. Every woman present gave the strictest attention to all the talks. They showed, unmistakably, that they considered it a sacred duty to learn all they could from the talks made and I could not help but compare the meeting with what a similar meeting of men would have been, and the comparison was not to the credit of the men.

If this meeting is a fair sample of the way women accept their newly acquired franchise there is no power on earth which can stay the progress of the suffrage movement and it will not be many years until it will be the women who will exercise the dominant influence in political affairs.

EUROPE'S SMALLEST REPUBLIC.

Press despatches say that growing out of the Balkan-Turco war is a demand for a new republic. It is to be Mount Athos, on the peninsula jutting out into the Aegean sea, and considered sacred by the inhabitants.

It contains nothing but twenty-one ancient monasteries founded by Russians, Greeks, Bulgarians, and Servians in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. All overhang the cliffs of the Aegan sea and the monks go up and down from the shores in baskets worked on pulleys by their brethren.

So sacred is the peninsula considered that no female is allowed therein, not even a cow or a hen. Neither milk, cheese nor eggs can be had.

Some time ago peasants employed by the monks to help till the land smuggled in wives disguised in trousers, but the monks angrily expelled all they detected.

The abbot of the older Russian monastry kept a cat, which recently disgraced the island by having kittens. All the monks held a court to try her, declared she had broken their sacred rules and had her drowned. The abbot was reprimanded for taking in the cat before finding out whether it was eligible for admittance.

Some of the monasteries are very strict and never allow the inmates to wash even their hands or faces, or to go outside the gardens, which are said to be very beautiful. Others contain the oldest Greek manuscripts in the world, supposed to be able to fill gaps in the Epistles and other parts of the New Testament.

The idea of making Mount Athos a republic came from Russia, anxious to keep her influence in Macdonia, and is unwelcome to Bulgaria, tired of tutelage and used to considering the church as a political factor, now of less importance than before. But the other allies pressed Russia's proposal because they felt jealous of Bulgarian domination in that sacred territory.

Delegates from all the allied states will meet in Salonica under the Russian consul and draw up the new republic's laws. The patriarch of the Bulgarians, who hitherto has lived in Constantinople, probably will live on the peninsula.

WATER COMPANY

Refuses to make Water Connection in accordance with the City Ordinance. No more Barbed Wire fences

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees was held Thursday evening, February 20th, a full board being present. City Clerk Street reported that he had written the letter to the light company which he had been instructed to write at the previous meeting, and that a crew of men were now busy installing the lines of which complaint were made. Mr. Hobbs stated that he had made application for lights on Monday and had received them on Friday.

The following letter from the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., addressed to Mr. Bancroft, was received, read and referred to City Attorney Frederick Baker with instructions to take the matter up with the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., and call their attention to the city ordinance covering this matter and see if an amicable adjustment could not be affected.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 13. 1913.
Mr. C. A. Bancroft, President,
Board of Trustees, of the City of Tropico, California.
Dear Sir:

A. Mr. W. A. Hough, a citizen of your city made a demand upon the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., on the 16th day of February, 1913, in which he threatened that unless the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., made a water connection on his property located at 10th and Central Avenues in your city, that he, Hough, would have the Superintendent of Streets of the City of Tropico, make said connections and charge the cost of said connection to the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. This question was recently decided by Judge Wellborn in department 4, Superior Court, on the 17th day of February, 1913; that a municipal corporation could not arbitrarily employ an agent for the purpose of making water connections for citizens and the charge the amount involved in making said connection to water companies; quoting: Title Guarantee & Trust Co., a corporation, vs. J. W. Venable, et al., case No. 97391.

The company will not make water connections in the city of Tropico, either for the city of Tropico, or for the citizens of Tropico, unless the usual fee of $15.00 is paid the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., without protest. If Mr. W. A. Hough, or the street superintendent of your city, attempts to tear up the pipe line right-of-way of this company, as Mr. Hough threatened on t he 16th day of February, this company will have the Street Superintendent or his agents, arrested and prosecute the case.

If Mr. Hough complies with the rules and regulations of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., and deposits the usual payment of $15.00 for said connection, it being understood that said deposit shall be made without protest, then the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. will proceed to make said water connections.

Respectfully yours,
Title Guarantee & Trust Co.,
(Signed) By Willed Andrews,
Attorney.

It is stated that the average cost of making water connections in Tropico is from five to seven dollars. The ordinance covering this matter says that any water company operating in the city of Tropico shall make connections for the citizens at actual cost for such connections.

A representative of Major John Paine informed the Board of Trustees that Major Paine was anxious to erect ornamental light posts in front of his property on San Fernando Road, which is now occupied by the Tropico Merc. Co., and wanted the Board of Trustees to approve the style of post.

After discussing the question Mr. Bancroft, chairman of the Board, made the statement that he had been informed by several of the property owners in the business section of the city that they were not only willing, but anxious, to install ornamental lights in the business center, so

Would not a nice park be an attraction for Tropico?

The next man who says it does not rain in California, shoot him.

Let's make Tropico the best place in California. We can do it, but all must help.

The accounts of the conspiracies and intrigues in Mexico read like a tale from medieval history.

If the bill requiring a doctor's certificate before one can get married passes, wonder if it will carry a rider prohibiting the couple from taking a little prenuptial visit to Nevada or Arizona?

The membership of the Civic Club is rapidly increasing, but there is room for you. Attend the meetings and help boost. The club has no axe to grind and is non-sectional and non-political. It's a good thing, help push it along.

A plan has been proposed to form a world's police force to police Mexico, something on the plan used in China during the boxer troubles. Each nation interested in maintaining peace in Mexico will furnish a certain number of soldiers and bear its proportionate part of the expense. The proposed plan is to be submitted to President-elect Wilson after his inauguration.

Andy Carnegie has given $1,250,000 to cut down the crop of lawyers. I don't know how the cutting process is to be done, but there is no question but what an effective pruning of the legal tree, and the exercising of due vigilance to see that the number of future sprouts be kept in bonds would prove a great saving on an over-taxed and overburdened people. If Andy succeeds in his undertaking the country will forgive him for afflicting it in many other ways.

Press reports state that differences have arisen between President-elect Wilson and W. J. Bryan and that the difference has reached such an acute stage that one of them must "back down" or Mr. Bryan will not be Secretary of State. In my opinion all such reports should be given due allowance and not taken too seriously. As a matter of fact there is no evidence of record that Mr. Bryan has any desire for a cabinet position and it is hard to see why he should. The responsibilities of such a position would be fully recognized by a man like Bryan and the duties thereof not lightly assumed. If Mr. Bryan accepts any position under the Wilson administration it will be because he believes that by doing so he can do more to advance the cause for which he has so long contended than he can by remaining a private citizen. Mr. Wilson is too big a man to seek to make puppets of his cabinet and it would be a fairly reasonable conclusion to attribute all such reports to some source inimical to both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan.

Gee! Won't the doctors have fat picking if all the proposed bills now pending become laws. Medical certificates for those that would marry, medical certificates for those that would go in business, and medical certificates for those who would work for others. Fine thing for the doctors but rather hard on the poor people who foot the bills.

The whole country was shocked at the murder of Madero and Suarez, but those familiar with conditions and acquainted with the people of Mexico were not surprised. It emphasizes in a horrible manner what I have time and again asserted. The Mexican people are no more fit to maintain a government along modern principles than are the savages of the South Sea Islands. The government's explanation as to the murder of Madero and Suarez is an insult to the intelligence of the world. Why were they taken thru the most disreputable part of the city at the hour they were? How came thirty or forty armed men to be waiting in a dark alley? How came they to know that the poor victims would be carried through this particular street at this particular hour? What does the government mean by permitting an armed band of thirty or forty men to prowl around the streets of the city, at this time without knowing their intents and their business? Until these pertinent questions are answered and answered satisfactorily I shall believe, and many others will believe that the assassination was premeditated and deliberately planned and this cock and bull story hatched up in an attempt to hoodwink the world.

There are many kind of fools among the Mexicans but no such fools as to allow a crime of this kind to take place without them knowing of it before hand.

I had no love for Madero or Suarez and in my judgment they were utterly unfitted for the positions they held. Madero in some ways was a hundred years ahead of his people and had many redeeming traits but was no man to govern Mexico at this time.

Conditions have come to a fine pass when murder, assassination, rapine and arson can stalk unchecked throughout the length and breadth of the land and from the highest to the lowest be winked at. Huerta has proven himself an ingrate and a traitor. It was Madero who made him, yet, Judas-like he did not hesitate to betray his benefactor when the time came and if he did not have knowledge of the plot to assassinate Madero and Suarez his ignorance is colossal and his stupidity inconceivable.

The assassination demonstrates the weakness of the Huerta government and its own lack of confidence in itself. Men sure of their position do not resort to murder or assassinations.

How long shall the United States tolerate such conditions? American citizens have been robbed, insulted and murdered; American women have been ravished and outraged; the American flag has been reviled and spat upon, and still our weak-kneed Wall Street toadies at Washington unctiously rub their hands in pharasaical hypocricy and bable, "Please, be good." Now, won't you be good, "You must be good."

If any other nation seeks to interfere and put a stop to such conditions the Monroe doctrine is hurled at them.

Is it not about time that we do something or back out from the time honored Monroe doctrine and let some nation with red blooded men and women, some nation who is not tied soul and body to Wall Street and its brood of harpies to do what we will not do? I do not believe in war, neither do I believe in a horde of raving, murdering, treacherous maniacs running around loose in my back yard.

HOUSEHOLD

IMPOSED ON

In calling on a friend recently I found her smarting under the selfishness of kin folks using her home as a stopping place and convenience.

"Oh," she said, "I am so tired of entertaining relatives that I am going to sell my home and go to boarding." She has a little child about two years old and I remonstrated with her for the child's sake, having to keep the little fellow in a stuffy room. "But I do not know what else to do," she replied. "We need the money that has to go for grocery bills and meat bills. So many little things I could get with the money that has to go for their board, and I am under no obligations to have them."

I said, "Have you told them that you cannot have them with you longer?"

"I could not do that," she replied. "It would hurt their feelings."

After leaving the friend I kept thinking of how these relatives were imposing on this little woman, and was it justice to herself and to her husband to longer stand it, and what were the feelings she was afraid of hurting? It takes moral courage often to speak out and assert your sense of right and justice, but if done rightly how much better for all concerned.

Often this selfishness has grown in the offending party until they do not realize that it is selfishness and speaking kindly may awaken them. If they can afford to pay her for the accommodation received it should be done. If they cannot and it seems necessary to have to live in another's home, there are innumerable little ways that one can help with the housework, but more often as in the case just cited, it was selfishness and thoughtlessness, and the best remedy is to tell them kindly and lovingly that the cost of living prohibits a free boarding house. Unless this is done resentment is harbored on the one hand and selfishness is encouraged on the other.

This does not apply, of course, to those friends we enjoy coming to make us a visit, but to those city friends who come to the farm for the summer and to the country friends who use the city relatives as a convenience. The good book tells us to be hospitable, but it also says, "Let love be without dissimulation."

I bought a roll of white passepartout picture binding, which I find very useful in labeling fruits, jellies, jars of dry groceries for the store closet, etc., writes a contributor to the Modern Priscilla. The gummed back does away with the necessity of extra paste and the binding is also strong and serviceable.

Let your strivings, then, be after contentment. Get out of each passing day all the sweetness there is in it. Live in the present hour as much as possible, and if you live for character your foundations will outlast tomorrow.—George H. Hepworth.

A tablespoonful of common salt in a cup of acid vinegar, poured down the sink, will clean out the most stubborn pipes.

Stretch a blanket over a rug (the wool surface of the blanket will hold it fast without tacking) and on this lay smoothly the wet curtain. Again the wool surface will hold the curtain without pinning, thus saving all of that tedious labor. After the curtain is dry run a hot iron around the edges and the work is complete. This method is well adapted to torn curtains which would not stand the strain of stretching and pinning.

Can you make good doughnuts that never soak grease? If not try the following recipe and you will never fail: One-half cup sugar, one tablespoon shortening (preferably lard), one egg, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, one cup sour milk, flour enough to roll out (about one quart), nutmeg to flavor. Fry in deep lard and roll in sugar.

Look within. There is the fountain of good welling up perpetually, if you always dig.—Marcus Aurelius.

Section 1. Whereas, the Board of Trustees of the City of Tropico, California, at a regular meeting thereof held January 23rd, 1913, by a vote of two-thirds of all its members, duly passed and adopted a resolution determining that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition by the said City of Tropico of certain municipal improvements, to-wit:

Whereas, the estimated cost of said municipal improvements is the sum of Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars; and such cost of said municipal improvements and each of them is and will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City;

Section 2. Now, therefore, a special election is hereby called to be held in the said City of Tropico, California, on the 20th day of March, 1913, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of said City the proposition of incurring a debt of the sum of Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars for the purpose set forth in said resolution and hereinafter stated.

Section 3. That the object and purpose for which said indebtedness is proposed to be incurred is for the acquisition of land and the construction thereon of a public building for use as a fire engine house, and other municipal purposes, by said City of Tropico, and the acquisition of fire apparatus. That the estimated cost of said proposed public improvement is Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars. That the amount of the principal of the indebtedness to be incurred therefor is the sum of $25,000.00, and that the rate of interest to be paid on said indebtedness is five (5%) per cent. per annum. Said tax shall be in addition to all other taxes levied for municipal purposes, and shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other municipal taxes are collected; and be used for no other purpose than the payment of said bonds and accruing interest.

A LITTLE BIT OF LOVE.

Do you know the world is pining,
For a little bit of love?
Everywhere we hear its sighing
For a little bit of love,—
For the love that rights a wrong,
Fills the heart with hope and song.
It has waited, oh, so long,
For a little bit of love.

We can do so much to help it,
With a little bit of love;
All the time the chance to live it,
Just a little bit of love.
Some have burdens hard to bear,
Some have sorrows we should share;
Shall they falter and despair,
For a little bit of love?

Thus the heart grows rich in giving
Just a little bit of love;
Thus the life of peace we're living
Through a little bit of love.
Let us stand not idly by,—
We can help all if we try,
By just knowing Love's supply
And a little bit of love.

The poultry business is one of the greatest industries of the country. Millions of dollars are invested in the business. Help us to make your investment more profitable. Tell us what you know about the poultry business and what you do not know but want to know ask us. We may be able to help you.

POULTRY NOTES

If you are breeding for an egg-laying strain, and you should be if you expect to make the poultry business pay, you cannot afford to be without trap nests. There are nests made now which do not require any attention more than the ordinary nest, inasmuch as they are arranged so that the hen goes in from one pen and can get out of the nest only from the opposite end which lets her into another pen and opens the first end to another hen. This, to be sure, does not enable one to tell which egg is from a certain hen, but it enables him to tell how many eggs a certain hen produces in a year.

Rose comb varieties do not suffer with frozen combs as much as do those with single combs, and this has some influence on the egg production in severe weather such as we have had this winter.

There are said to be about one hundred distinct breeds of poultry, and upward of three hundred varieties. Many of these are of no value to the utility poultry-keeper, since they are merely ornamental and possess neither table nor laying properties.

HATCHING

The hatching season is upon us, and the next three months will mean much to the poultryman who raises either breeders or fowls for the market, and upon his efforts during this time will depend his success or failure in the year's results. Failure to look after the proper preparation and arrangement of nests, and the little details in the care of the setting hen, where hens are used for this purpose, have been the cause of many poor hatches.

Fortunately we may have the choice of two methods of hatching, either of which will prove successful if properly handled. Hatching with hens is the most universally used, and has the advantage that a busy housewife or a man who is engaged in business which would not allow him to keep an incubator going as it should, may give such attention as is necessary to a large number of hens if proper preparation is made for caring for them.

The most important step in hatching with hens is arranging the nests. These may be built in tiers of two or three rows near the ground, and should be well protected from the weather. The nests should be roomy so that the hen will not be so likely to break the eggs in getting in and out, and they should be arranged so that they may be closed to keep other hens out if necessary. In the bottom of each nest should be placed about two inches of sand, and on top of this sufficient prairie hay to make a comfortable nest. Or even a better way is to have individual brooder coops with runs which sit on the ground and are well built to prevent weather interference. The nest should be placed in the closed part of the coop, and the hen allowed to go only in the run in which is kept an abundance of feed and water. After the hatch is over the mother hen and her brood are kept in this coop. With either of these plans the nest should be placed where the hen will be disturbed as little as possible by noises of any kind or by any of the animals about the place, and everything should be done to make her comfortable and happy. When the eggs are first placed under her the hen should be treated to a thorough dusting with some good insect powder, and this should be repeated in about ten days and again two or three days before the hatch is due. It is also advisable to supply moisture after the tenth day, say on the twelfth and eighteenth days. This may be done by sprinkling water on the eggs and hay, or by moistening the sand under them.

Hatching with incubators has some advantages over the hen. In the first place one may hatch the chicks at any time they may care to, can bring off a larger number at a time, and need have no fear of the chicks being infested with lice or vermin of any kind. If an incubator is used by advice is to get a good, standard make machine. It is better to do this even if the purchase price is much greater than to get a cheap machine that will only hatch trouble and disappointment. Have either a good room in the basement or a special house built which will be as free from drafts provided to keep it in, and then follow closely the directions which are furnished by the manufacturer of the machine.

In using either method it should be borne in mind that the fresher the eggs and the less they are handled the better the hatch is likely to be.

COACHELLA VALLEY.

Special to the Sentinel:

February 22.—Last week four of the prominent citizens of Tropico visited the Coachella-Indio valley. It is reported that two of the gentlemen are quite extensive property owners in the Valley, and that they made the trip for the purpose of formulating plans for the development of their property, and invited a couple of friends to accompany them on their trip.

The journey was made in an elegant Stanley Steamer belonging to one of the gentlemen, and everything went splendidly, until the bad roads were encountered, and then the man acting as chauffeur lost his nerve. It was suggested that the doctor of the crowd prescribe a tonic. This was done and the instruction given to take a scientific amount every 30 minutes. This medicine acted so magically that no further trouble was experienced until the return trip, when going at a speed far beyond the regulation limits of Los Angeles, a blow-out occurred. After working for sometime without being able to mend the tire, it was decided to run into the nearest station on the rim of the wheel. This was done, but when the station was reached it was found that no tire suitable for the steamer could be secured at that place, and a telephone message was sent to Los Angeles. While waiting the arrival of the tire the party from some cause and in some manner became separated and the guests had to return to Tropico on a freight train.

The question that is agitating the friends of these gentlemen in the Valley, and we understand also in Tropico, is what was the medicine prescribed which had such a stimulating effect?

ANGELUS PARK OPENING

Occasion Thoroughly Enjoyed by Thousands of Visitors

The opening of the beautiful Angelus Park, lying tributary to Tropico, on Saturday and Sunday was a big success, notwithstanding the unprecedented rain storm.

The Pacific Home Builders may be justly proud of their achievements. Friday night rain delayed preparations and caused the barbecuers no end of trouble, but this only gave the company an opportunity to demonstrate their ability to overcome adverse circumstances.

After the clouds broke Saturday morning a big crowd began to gather by the thousands, and they were first served with liberal portions of Mexican beans, combination salad, and "sure enough" coffee, followed with being "helpings" of barbecue meat just as fast as the chefs could get it cooked to the right degree.

A number of Tropico ladies had volunteered their services, and busily occupied themselves in waiting on the crowd and in making all welcome.

Many were busy inspecting the tract and investigating the wonderful opportunities it offers, and many availed themselves of the opportunity of inspecting the Richardson and Angelus tracts, and closely examined the class of houses being constructed in these additions.

It was a late hour before the crowd dispersed, and all expressed themselves as being well pleased with the day's trip, and even those who failed to purchase could not help but admit that Angelus Park offered an ideal location for a permanent home. In the crowd were a number from the southwest section of the city, as well as a number of tourists. Those familiar with conditions expressed themselves as being of the opinion that Tropico and the Angelus Park tract would develop into as high a class residence section as Hollywood. Some even expressed the opinion that it offered a number of advantages that Los Angeles' favored residence sections fail to supply.

On account of the steady rain on Sunday but a small crowd came out, but notwithstanding the loss of this day, the total sales for the two days amounted to quite a sum, fifty-six lots being sold outright, and a number of reservations being made. In one place three solid blocks were sold, and a number of those who purchased expressed their intention to build at once.

The company expects to vigorously continue the development work on the tract, the work of laying the pipe lines will be rushed as fast as possible, and material is now on the way for a two-story brick business block that the company expects to erect on Brand Boulevard.

After the rain forced the crowd to disperse on Sunday the company very generously gave several wagon loads of barbecued meat to the Los Angeles Orphans Home, so that the little ones in that institution might enjoy a feast themselves.

The development of Angelus Park with its 220 acres will prove quite an acquisition to Tropico, and materially increases Tropico's volume of business.

A TROPICO HOME

A feature that strikes every visitor to Tropico in a favorable light is the attractiveness and originality of design of the many homes going up in all parts of the city. The houses have the appearance of being built for permanent homes. Truly does Tropico grow each day the more ideal for the home-lover.

KILLED BY AUTO

F. M. Hoopes, 62 years, salesman in the building hardware department of the Adams & McKee Hardware company, 128 South Main street, was fatally hurt early Tuesday at Second and Main streets when struck by an auto delivery wagon of the Burr Creamery company, driven by V. M. Richert. He died a few moments later.

Hoopes was crossing Second street on Main when the machine, traveling east, hit him. The front right wheel passed over his body after he was thrown violently to the pavement, and he was picked up unconscious.

Richert stopped and aided in carrying the injured man to a nearby store, where Hoopes died before a doctor could be summoned. Richert, who lives at 837 McGarry street, and is 24 years old, declares that he was driving at a slow speed and that Hoopes suddenly attempted to pass in front of him. Richert declares he immediately applied the brakes, but was unable to prevent the collision. He was not arrested.

Hoopes lived in Glendale and had a wife and two small sons. He had been employed with the Adams & McKee company for seven years as an estimator and salesman. The body was taken to the Bresee undertaking establishment.

Mr. H. A. Jennings, who recently had the misfortune of losing his blacksmith shop by fire, has reopened at 415 W. Tropico avenue, and has equipped a first-class shop in every particular, and will be glad to welcome his old customers, as well as new ones, at his new location. In a short time Mr. Jennings expects to move his two-story residence from San Fernando Road to the lot adjoining his blacksmith shop.

Chapter L, P. E. O., met at the home of Mrs. R. E. Chase on West Broadway last Saturday. After a brief business session an instructive program of special interest was enjoyed. Mrs. Elizabeth Brown gave a comprehensive and enlightening resume of California laws for women. Miss Mary Blackburn gave an interesting talk on California artists illustrated by reproductions of their best pictures. On Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 26, chapter L will give an afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. H. E. Bartlett on Brand Boulevard.

The witches' dance given by the Thursday Afternoon Club last Wednesday evening in the K. of P. hall was a success from every standpoint. A number of unique as well as comical customs were in evidence, the music was good and the floor in fine shape. Coffee, cake and ice cream were served in the banquet room adjoining the hall. The coffee and cream being donated by the Tropico Mercantile Company, and the ice cream furnished at cost by the Tropico Pharmacy. The receipts amounted to $28 for the evening and will be placed in the club's building fund.

The California Farm and Home Builders are having built in their Santa Ana lands a "chicken bungalow" with all the latest improvements, such as built-in-nests, open sleeping or sunning porch, pergola, with running water and all other devices known to poultry fanciers.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Milligan of 114 E. Park Avenue entertained Sunday evening the 23rd. The decorations were pretty and tasty and were emblematic of Washington's birthday, the center piece being two pictures of Washington draped with the Stars and Stripes. Place cards and favors were suggestive of the cherry tree and hatchet story. Covers were laid for sixteen, and all voted Mr. and Mrs. Milligan ideal hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lewis of Ft. Scott, Kansas, who have been visiting in California for nearly a year are so delighted with Tropico and San Fernando valley that they are thinking of locating here and making this their permanent home. Mr. Lewis owns large mercantile interests in Kansas, but is thinking of closing out there and reinvesting here. Mr. Lewis came to California on account of ill health, but is now completely recovered.

Glendale is to vote on its new charter March 11th.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Owing to the rainy weather, we have had lately, and the slight attendance, the high school was dismissed on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Tryouts are being made nowadays by the orators within each class to decide who will represent their respective class in the big oratorical contest which comes on the 11th of April.

In about two weeks on March the 7th the Juniors of the high school will give an interesting vaudeville show. This will not be altogether an amateur show as the class has engaged Julius Kranz, the ingenious violinist, Viola Yoiba, the soloist, and Margaret McKee of Los Angeles, who is a talented whistler. The idea of this show is to raise money to defray the expenses of the Junior-Senior banquet, which will likely be at Casa Verdugo. The price of seats will be 25 cents, and those wishing tickets may obtain them from Burt Richardson, who is in charge of them.

On Tuesday night the baseball game was played between the Faculty and the Seniors, which resulted in the Faculty winning by a score of 6 to 5. Much spirit was shown by both teams and it was altogether interesting.

On Friday evening the 21st a musical recital on the grand opera which will soon arrive here, was given in the high school auditorium by Professor Kingsley, who is traveling with the company.

If it clears up by the coming Saturday, March 1, a very interesting interscholastic track and field meet will be held at San Fernando between the majority of high schools of the south. Both Burbank and Glendale have full teams entered, but the Glendale team think they have the best chance to take first place honors.

THE TRUSTEE'S MEETING

it was suggested to Major Paine's representative that he call on the other owners and see if they would not all agree to install ornamental light posts, and that it was the sense of the Board that a uniform post should be selected, and if installed by the property owners, that the city would furnish the lights and bear the expense of maintenance.

Mr. Frank Peters stated that he was a property owner on Brand Boulevard, and that he would like to see lights along the entire boulevard.

Mr. J. A. Reynolds, who has part of a city street in the eastern part of the city fenced, informed the Board that he would remove his fence at once.

Mr. E. L. Young was granted permission to erect a corrugated iron extension to his present building; the same to be 9x24.

The ordinance prohibiting the use of barbed wire in the construction of fences, and fixing the penalty for violation thereof passed final reading and was ordered published.

The ordinance calling for special election to be held on the 20th day of March, 1913, for the purpose of issuing $25,000 in bonds, was passed. This calls for a series of forty bonds in denominations of $625.00, to bear interest at 5% per annum, payable semi-annually; one of the bonds to be retired each year.

The following election officials were appointed.

Inspectors: Precinct No. 1—G. A. R. Hall, Frank E. Peters, Lily D. Howe. Precinct No. 2, City Hall—Mrs. Lou A. Gregory, Wesley H. Bullis.

Judges: Precinct No. 1—Charles H. Muhleman, Andrew R. Balentyne. Precinct No. 2—N. C. Burch, Wayne B. Frank.

The Los Angeles Railway Co. has commenced work on a half million dollar power plant at Eagle Rock. About 200 men are now employed on the foundation.

A neighborhood dinner is to be given by Mrs. John Hobbs, 600 Central avenue, at 1 o'clock Wednesday, February 26. The guests will include Mrs. J. A. Logan, Mrs. A. Stephenson, Mrs. W. Bullis, Mrs. W. A. Hough, Mrs. C. R. Carmack, Mrs. W. Hamilton, Mrs. George Peck, Mrs. Goodrich, Mrs. W. E. Burk, Mrs. Dr. Wm. Mabry, Mrs. Frank Bernan and Mrs. Joe Webster.

Master Chas. Phillips of San Fernando Road entertained in honor of his cousin Herbert Winton, Friday, Feb. 21. Decorations were of the colonial or Geo. Washington period. The guests were Misses Gertrude and Lillia Ashton, Junior Chapman, Elmo and Bill Finley, Gerome Lawton and Bridwel Marten.
